They can break up families

A GIGOLO is like a photographer: you do something you like and get paid for it.

But that's the only similarity between the two professions.

A gigolo is a home-wrecker when the husband finds out about his wife's tryst.

The gigolo may also be a carrier of disease. With AIDS and other diseases, women should be aware of the dangers ahead. He may not even know if he is a carrier until it is too late.

Foreign students who get involved in this activity may find this profession more lucrative than being an architect or an engineer, for instance.

The student may just enjoy himself in this country and return home a failure — spoiling the image of our institutes of higher learning.

Please put a stop to this booming business before it is too late.
