Zuma said to be an 'embarrassment'

JOHANNESBURG • South African President Jacob Zuma, a polygamist with three wives, has become an embarrassment to the country after he admitted fathering his 20th child, out of wedlock this time, opposition parties and newspapers said. Zuma, 67, said that he had a relationship and a baby with Sonono Khoza, 39, the daughter of Irvin Khoza, owner of the Orlando Pirates, one of South Africa's top soccer teams. Zuma's behaviour threatens to undermine the government's message to citizens to practise safe sex to combat the world's biggest AIDS epidemic, the opposition said. — Bloomberg
