Ciara Supports HIV Campaign

Singer Ciara is backing a campaign encouraging young Americans to get tested for HIV — so they will “know what’s going on” with their bodies. The Get Up singer, according to reports, is fronting the Get Yourself Tested drive to help young people across the U.S. combat sexually transmitted diseases. “You gotta do it. Knowing is greater than doubt. You’ll feel so much better if you know what’s going on with your body, and you don’t want to be surprised,” Ciara said in a statement at the launch of the MTV supported GYT campaign which aims to help combat sexually-transmitted diseases among young people.
