

Headline HIV woman has sex with 100 in revenge
Date 22 Feb 2011
MediaTitle The Star
Section Nation
Journalist N/A
Frequency Daily
Circ / Read 304,904 / 1,026,812

Language English
Page No N42
Article Size 143 cm²
Color Black/white
ADValue 2,596
PRValue 7,788

HIV woman has sex with 100 in revenge

A HIV-POSITIVE woman in Mumbai, India, had sexual relations with about 100 men "to take revenge" for her ailment, reported Malaysia Nanban.

The daily quoted her doctor Dr I.S. Gilada, who heads an AIDS clinic in Mumbai, as saying that the 29-year-old woman, who had been visiting him for the past two months, said during counselling she hunted for men with a vengeance to spread the virus she had contracted through her husband.

Although she had divorced him in 2005, she could not come to terms with the fact that he had knowingly passed on the virus to her.

Dr Gilada said the woman, who works as a maid, claimed she had over 300 sexual encounters with about 100 men over the past three years.

Among the men she had sex with were her employers, their sons and relatives, students and labourers – all of whom had unprotected sex with her.

> Tamil Nesan quoted Pahang DAP deputy chairman J. Simmathri as saying that very few food stalls at rest and recreational areas on the North-South Expressway were operated by non-Malays.

Questioning the disparity, he said there were currently about 200 food stalls but only 10 were given to the Indian community.

Furthermore, the existing Indian stall owners had received termination letters from highway operator PLUS.

He urged PLUS, in supporting the 1Malaysia policy, to ensure the existence of one Indian business stall in each rest and recreation area.

> Makkal Osai reported that religious leader Premananda, who was sentenced to double life imprisonment for rape and murder in 1997, urgently needs a liver transplant as he is suffering from end-stage liver failure.

Premananda will have a problem getting a liver for transplant as he is a Sri Lankan citizen, the daily reported.

It said that the Tamil Nadu government had ordered its organ donation registry to allot organs to foreigners only when there are no Indians on the waiting list.

Premananda was reported to have come to India in 1983 as a refugee during the ethnic riots in Sri Lanka and established an orphanage for children in Tiruchi in 1989.

In 1997, he was convicted for raping 13 women and murdering one.