Creating awareness

LAST month, Asia Pacific University College of Technology & Innovation (UCTI) celebrated Humanity Week in conjunction with its Humanity & Awareness Campaign 2009.

This event was organised by UCTI Students' Activities and Recreational Council (ARC).

The goal was to create awareness and present opportunities for students to give a little something back to society by raising funds for various causes. Each day is dedicated to a particular foundation; Monday AIDS Awareness Day (Pink Triangle), Tuesday Cancer Awareness Day (Cancerlink), Wednesday Underprivileged Children's Day (Angels Home & Shepherd's Home), Thursday Refugees Day (Save Educational Centre) and Friday Nature Appreciation Day (SPCA).

Students were also given the opportunity to showcase their talents at a charity concert in conjunction with the UCTI Humanity Week.

Former Miss Malaysia/World Deborah Henry kicked off the concert with an opening speech and promoted her foundation, Save Education Centre for Refugees.

In between performances, audiences were given the chance to contribute funds by posing dares to students. Business Management student Jahanvir Chall, 25, managed to raise
